ROME, Jan. 28.

MR. Thom, Minister of the Queen of Hungary, had some Days past a particular Audience of the Pope, in which he acquainted him with the Entrance of the Prussian Troops, and represented, that as this War might be in a Manner regarded as a religious War, the Queen hop'd, in this Time of Distress, the Pope would send a considerable Succour in Money The Pope promis'd to stir up all the Princes in his Communion to succour her Majesty, but excus'd himself as to the Money.

Vienna, Feb. 4. Several Soldiers in Prussian Regimentals are wandering about the Streets, pretending they were obliged to desert through extreme Cold and Fatigue, and that great Numbers of them were also gone to Bohemia and Poland. It is acknowledged that 600 Men of the Austrians had been killed in the Encounter near Grossetto, but the Loss of the Prussians is double the Number. The next Thing we expect to hear, is, that all Bohemia is under Contributions; and as the Danger daily increases, and the expected Assistance of other Powers, especially that of Saxony, remains in Suspence, and will perhaps be set aside; and as the drawing together our Troops, and raising Magazines for their Subsistance are in no great forwardness, and finally too great Consequences are to be feared should they lose a Battle, we begin to consider whether we had not best, the sooner the better, offer a Negociation to the King of Prussia, in order to come to an Accommodation with him, especially as the Affairs in Italy begin to grow very precarious, and the Comfort we have received from Rome will avail but little against him; several pleasant Stories are related here concerning the said Prince, especially that having dined at a Monastry of Nuns, he afterwards danced some Hours with the handsomest; and at parting, profusely presented the whole Sisterhood with all sorts of fine Toys.

Feb. 2. It is assured that our Court, as well as that of Prussia, have declared her Willingness to refer the Differences to the Decision of the Maritime Powers.

Feb. 10. The Archdutchess, by Advice of the Aulick Council, is resolved to send into Silesia a Body of 16000 Imperial Troops, to drive out of that Country the Prussian Troops, should they attempt any farther Enterprize in that Province, and her Bohemian Majesty is also promised sufficient Succours, in case of need, from several States of the Empire. Her Highness has sent a Rescript, signed by her own Hand, to the General Diet at Ratisbon, exhorting them to use their utmost Endeavours to promote the Election of the Grand Duke of Tuscany to the Succession, as Emperor of the Romans, pursuant to the Terms of the Pragmatick Sanction.

Ratisbon, Feb. 9. The King of Prussia has wrote a circular Letter to the States of the Empire, wherein he expresses himself in the following Manner: That he sees with much surprize, that the Queen of Hungary endeavours to stir up the Princes of the Empire against him, by representing the Entry of the Prussian Troops into Silesia as an hostile and unjust Invasion: That far from having made a secret of his Intentions, as the Queen set forth, he explained them clearly to her Minister the Marquis de Botta, who answered them but with frivolous Assurances of the Friendship of that Princess, so that we were obliged to let that Minister know, more than once, that simple Compliments was not the Matter to be relied on, but something real and substantial. That his Prussian Majesty acquainted all the Powers of Europe with his Resolution to recover Silesia; a Country which the House of Austria had kept from him by the superiority of its Strength; that the late Emperor having declared in the Year 1731, that the Guaranty of the Pragmatick Sanction should not tend to the Prejudice of any one whatsoever, his Prussian Majesty thought himself at Liberty to pursue his Rights without doing Injury to that Guaranty: That the Court of Vienna, instead of referring to that particular Guaranty of the late King of Prussia, would be better to be silent on that Head, in order to prevent the Revealing of Things, the Knowledge whereof must necessarily cause great Astonishment: That how much soever his Prussian Majesty may be interested in shewing his Resentment of his Affairs, he is willing, on this Occasion, to sacrifice it to the publick Good: That it is a Matter very indifferent, whether Silesia remains in the Possession of the House of Austria, or that of Brandenbourg, and therefore the System of the Empire can suffer no Injury on that Account That for the rest, his Prussian Majesty not being able to promise himself Justice from the Court of Vienna, has been obliged to make use of the Means which the Laws of Nature, and of Nations, give to Princes under the like Circumstances, &c.

Hamburgh, Feb. 10. Strenuous Endeavours are making by the Russian, British, Polish, and Dutch Ministers at Berlin, to induce the King of Prussia to an amicable Composure of the Differences with Austria; in order to which they declared, their Principals will use their best Endeavours. His Majesty does in no wise reject this Offer, provided those Powers will preliminarily be Guarantees, that the Court of Vienna shall give him equitable Satisfaction for his respective Claims.

Hanover, Feb. 14. We continue in our Project of assembling an Army of 40,000 Hanoverians, Danes, Hessians, and others, as soon as possible, for preserving the Tranquility of the Empire, and preventing many threatening evil Dispositions.

Berlin, Feb. 11. His Prussian Majesty hath been pleased to appoint M. Borck, late his Minister at Vienna, to be Mi-

Minister of State in the Department for Foreign Affairs in the Room of M. Thulemeyer, deceased. The last Letters from Silesia say, that the Castle of Namslaw, situated on the Frontiers of Poland, had surrendred, and that the Prussians found there a Magazine of Provisions and Ammunition, and took between two & three Hundred Prisoners. Baron Gotter and M. Cocceii were named Yesterday to go to Francfort, as his Prussian Majesty's Ambassadors, for the Election of a new Emperor.

London, Feb. 14. It is reported, that the French Court has sent Orders to their Fleet in the West-Indies to return home immediately; and that a Ship from the Spanish West-Indies was arrived at Cadiz, with near two Millions of Pieces of Eight on board.

Letters from France advise, that a strong Naval Armament is fitting out in the Ports of that Kingdom; and that all the Ships lately employed in the East-India Trade are converted into Men of War.

We hear that Sir John Norris, with a large Squadron under his Command, will sail to the Mediterranean to replace Admiral Haddock's Squadron, which it is said, will return home to careen.

And Letters of the 20th directly from Stockholm say, the King has ordered Recruits to be forthwith raised on the Frontiers of Pomerania; that his Captains have Orders to add 25 Men to every Company by the End of next Month; and that all the talk at Stockholm is, that the Preparations making in that Kingdom, both by Sea and Land, are to retake Pomerania from Prussia.

A Letter of the 23d ult. from Hamburgh says, they have Advices from Silesia, that the King of Prussia ran a great Hazard of his Life, at the Seige of Neiss, which he called a Nest of Rats; and threatened to set Fire to the four Corners of it: And some Letters insinuate, that his Majesty received a slight Wound there.

The Commissioners of the Navy have given Notice to the Owners and Commanders of Ships, that they are willing to contract with such as have Vessels proper to be employ'd in his Majesty's Service as Transports.

An Order is sent down to the Ordnance Office for a Magazine of Military Stores to be dispatch'd for Bermudas, which they are preparing and shipping with all Expedition for that Island.

Yesterday several large Vessels were taken up by the Commissioners of the Navy, to be employ'd as Tender in his Majesty's Service.

The Fly Sloop of War, Capt Smith, and the Fox Man of War, Capt. Edwards, sailed from Lisbon the 2d of February, N. S. to cruize on the Coasts of Portugal, &c.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland will go a Voluntier in the Fleet under Admiral Norris.

The Grand Motion Yesterday in the House of Lords concerning Sir Robert Walpole, passed in the Negative 108 against 95; the same passed also in the Negative in the House of Commons 290 against 106. The Lords sat till One, and the Commons till four o'Clock this Morning. After the first Division, the Duke of Marlborough moved, That to charge any Person with Crimes that cannot be proved on him, is an high Infringement on all the Rights of the Subjects, &c. it passed in the Affirmative 87 against 54.

An Ingrossed Bill for the better securing the Freedom of Parliaments, by limiting the Number of Officers in the House of Commons, was read the third Time.

Resolved, that the Bill do pass.

Ordered, that Mr. Sandy's do carry the Bill to the Lords, and desire their Conference.

DUBLIN, February 21.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated Feb. 14.

I suppose you have heard of the Motion made in both Houses for an Adress to His Majesty to remove Sir Robert Walpole from all his Places, His Majesty's Councils and Presence for ever, which was rejected by a very great Majority. The Debates in the Lords and Commons on this Occasion were very warm, and lasted a long Time. It is impossible to tell them in a Letter; they would take up a Volume. I was present in one House and a Friend of mine in the other: We compared Notes together, and find the Scheme was concerted by the leading Men of the Country Party, as they call themselves; but they were foiled in their Attempt; many Persons voting and speaking in Favour of Sir Robert, who in most other Affairs generally opposed him. Sir Robert stood unmoved upon this Occasion, without changing his Countenance, or shewing the least Resentment or Warmth; but on the contrary behaved himself with all the Mildness and Temper imaginable; and when it was proposed by some of his Friends to call the Members to Order, who spoke against him, he desired the Motion to be dropt, that he might hear all they had to say against him. The Lord Cornbury, and the Right Hon. Edward Southwell, Esq; Secretary of State for Ireland, spoke a long time in Behalf of him, as did many others: And Sir Robert, to shew his strength, sent (before the Division) above 80 Members out of the House. The Motion was in the House of Lords by the L---d C------t, who spoke above two Hours for the Question; And was made in the House of Commons by Mr. Sandys, and seconded by the Lord Visc. Limerick. ---This great Triumph over his Enemies, hath, in the Opinion of the wisest People, so much riveted him in the Favour of his Majesty and the Parliament, that all Attempts to remove him will be vain and fruitless.

London, Feb. 17. We hear from Dover, that the Princess Augusta, Gwin, from Barbados, is arrived there, who on the 8th Instant about fifty Leagues to the West of Scilly was attack'd by a Spanish Privateer of 24 Guns; but Capt Gwin luckily sunk her the first Broadside, and has now the second Lieutenant and four more of the People on board his Vessel, all the rest, upwards of 70 perished. The Privateer had taken the Day before a Brigantine from South-Carolina for Plymouth, but don't know her Name Capt. Gwin is entitled by Act of Parliament to 5 l. a Head for every Spaniard, that was in the Privateer.

March 2. We hear that there will be a Draught of 2000 Soldiers of the Foot-Guards, 4000 out of the Marching Regiments in England and 6000 out of the Regiments of Foot in Ireland, in order to be sent aboard under the Command of General Wade.

March 4. Orders are sent to Spithead for his Majesty's Ships the Kent, Grafton, Bristol, Scarborough, and Pembroke Prize, to sail for Jamaica with several Transports under their Convoy.

Orders are also sent for his Majesty's Ships the Bristol and Lively to sail for Cork, and take under their Convoy all the Transports lying ready there for Jamaica.

March 5. Our Letters from Portsmouth on Tuesday Night give an Account of the Transport Ships and their Convoy bound for Jamaica still remaining there; and as the Wind is since veer'd to the West 'tis fear'd they lie Portbound.

BOSTON, April 27. 1741.

'We hourly expect to hear of Admiral Vernon's taking 'Carthagena, after which 'tis believ'd the Forces will go to 'Chagre, and march from thence to Panama, in order to 'join Comodore Anson, who it's suppos'd will be at that 'Place in a few Weeks, and block up their Harbour. And 'Capt. Harmon, who arrived Yesterday from England, 'brings an Account of 7 more Ships of the Line coming 'out, and 14 Transports, with Recruits, besides a supply of 'Stores and Provisions.

Extract of a Letter from Newport, dated April 24.

" ---- On Wedneſday come in a Sloop in 25 Days from " Jamaica, by whom we learn, that Advice was brought to " that Iſland, that there were only four Spaniſh Ships at " Carthagena, all the reſt being gone to the Havanna.---- " That the Defiance Man of War had taken and ſent into " Jamaica 3 Spaniſh Store-Ships bound from Old Spain to " Carthagena, and was in Purſuit of the reſt, ſaid to be " 12. ---That Don Blaſs's Son was on board one of the Pri- " zes, and a new Governor for Carthagena. They ſay one " of the Ships mounted 20 Guns, that they put all their Let- " ters in an empty Jar, and flung it over-board, but happily " ſwimming it was taken up, and Capt. Warren carried the " Lettets after the Admiral.

Laſt Saturday the Aſtrea Maſt Ship arrived here in 30 Days from Jamaica, to fetch Naval Stores for the uſe of the Fleet in the Weſt-Indies. By this Ship we learn, that 20 Days before they left Jamaica, Admiral Vernon was landing his Men at Carthagena.

Beſides what we have inſerted at large from the London Prints, we obſerve, that all Europe is arming, and a general War ſeems unavoidable: That Admiral Stewart is dead, and that Admiral Vernon ſucceeds him as Vice Admiral of the Red.---That Commodore Brown is made an Admiral.

NEW-YORK, May, 4.

Laſt Week arrived here the Mercury, a Dutch Sloop from Curacoa, ſent here by the Government of that Place to deſire a ſupply of Proviſions for the Inhabitants there, who are almoſt ſtarving; by whom we hear, That by ſome Veſſels arrived there from the Spaniſh Coaſt, they had Advice, that Admiral Vernon, with his Fleet, had deſtroyed two Forts at Carthagena; and that the Ship of Admiral Ogle, and others, were lying againſt Boco Chico, and had actually made a conſiderable Breach therein; and as twelve Thouſand Men (Land Forces and Sailors) were landed, it was thought the Place would ſoon be reduced.

Yeſterday Capt. Bryant arrived here from London, and in forty Days from the Downs, by whom we hear, That notwithſtanding they have had a hard Winter in England, there is a very great Proſpect of a fine Crop; and that many People have plowed up more Land than uſual, and ſowed it with Corn, ſo that it is thought England will raiſe this Year a greater Quantity of Grain than ever was known.

We hear alſo, that a certain great Man declared in the Houſe of Commons, That the King was on the Point of declaring War with a potent Neighbour.

We hear likewiſe, That Capt. Cornel, in a Philadelphia Ship, bound from this Place to Cork, was caſt away off the Coaſt of Ireland. And, that Capt. Prizgar, in a Brigt. belonging to Philadelphia, from Cork, was taken by a Spaniſh Privateer, and carried into St. Sebaſtians

Philadelphia, May 7. Juſt now arrived Capt. Peniſton from Jamaica in 20 Days, by whom we hear, that our Fleet under Adm. VERNON, began the Attack of the Out-Forts of Carthagena on the 9th of March, and on the 29th the Troops were in Poſſeſſion of them all, and the Fleet were ſafe anchor'd in the Lake. Boco Chico was taken by the Land Forces, who made a great Breach with their Cannon on the Land Side, which was enter'd by the Grenadiers, and the Spaniards immediately abandon'd it with Precipitation. The Batteries were erected behind a Wood; and when all was ready the Wood was cut down and clear'd in one Night by 1500 Negroes, ſo as to leave the Walls open to the Cannon. Boco Chico was full of fine Proviſion, Iriſh Beef, & good Flour & Bread. Don Blas in his Retreat to the Town order'd all his Ships to be deſtroy'd, to prevent their falling into our Hands; 13 Men of War and Galeons were accordingly burnt, blown up and ſunk; but the Admiral Ship was taken, and her fine Flag is ſent home to England by the Spy Man of War. Three 60 Gun Ships were to be ſent up the next Morning to ſummon the Town, which it was not doubted would immediately ſurrender. One of our 80 Gun Ships was much damaged, by the Forts, being drove by Misfortune againſt one of them, having her Cable ſhot. 'Tis ſaid we loſt but about 300 Men in all. No American Officer kill'd, but the gallant Capt. Provooſt of New-York. Great Rejoicings in Jamaica on this Occaſion. 'Tis believ'd at Jamaica, that the Treaſure will be found in Carthagena, the French Fleet not having been there as reported, and our Cruiſers preventing its being carried out to them. They have however carried home, as it is ſaid, 3000000 Pieces of Eight from the Havanna. The Troops are all in good Health.
